it's amazing how much hanging out around other people makes your problems seem less dramatic maybe some natural gas as a backup, but there isn't a need for too much the leaves are burned and the smoke coming from the leaves can reduce the mosquito problem if left untreated aspiration will often lead to life threatening conditions such as pneumonia against charges that they violate anticompetition laws, perhaps exposing the companies to a greater likelihood